

GEMINI PERSONALITY PROFILE

Ruled by the planet Mercury, Gemini is the third sign of the zodiac and its symbol is the twins. Mercury influences communication and the intellect so Gemini's are intelligent and communicative individuals with a lively curiosity and a great wit.

Key phrase: "I think" is Gemini.

In Gemini, Mercury bestows a natural talent for shit stirring and you love nothing better than to invite over a group people who detest each other and then sit back and watch the mayhem.

Gemini's can be quite cunning and will often for their own amusement play mental games at your expense which can make them appear inconsiderate. For the most they are diplomatic and possess great social adeptness but by the same token they won't let your sensitivities get in the way of a good story.

They are often exceptionally good looking and highly charismatic but no matter whether they are male or female; they will always rely on their intellect as opposed to their external beauty. Think of good looking and magnetic Gemini's JFK and Marilyn Monroe - the latter who played the archetypal dumb blonde but was in reality far from it. They can be good listeners but only because they want to hear every juicy bit of gossip that may prove useful to their schemes.

The Gemini personality has a duality that others find charming and frustrating at the same time. It is a sign that finds difficulty in keeping focused on any one thing to the exclusion of anything else. That is because they have so many interests it's hard to keep up with them all and Gemini's will end up knowing quite a bit (as opposed to a lot) about a lot of different things. They will never outgrow an almost child-like fascination for new experiences and the phrase "Jack of all trades and Master of none" without doubt applied to a Gemini.

As a partner they are bright, witty, versatile and fun loving (never clingy) and like a poet will use the power of language to win you over. They are constantly writing letters, emails and making phone calls and will rarely stop talking for long.

Not for the faint hearted, Gemini requires an intelligent, adaptable and tolerant partner but it's all worth it because they possess so much charm that they are positively irresistible.

You will never be bored with a Gemini partner as they are always seeking a new adventure, but be warned, they will always get what they want because they are masters of deceit and flattery.

By the same token, you will need to be imaginative and clever, and be able to adapt to the ever changing environment created by this sign. If you are unable to keep up, the Gemini personality will grow weary of the relationship and move on. It is imperative that you keep their interest up, as boredom is anathema to them and will certainly be the death knoll of the relationship.

One of their flaws is an appearance of superficiality and inconsistency and in truth you can never rely on them for too much staying power. All their flitting about leaves little time for introspection (and certainly not for delving too deeply into the nuts and bolts of the relationship) and if you can't keep up they will grow tired of the arrangement.

This is the sign of duality (twins) and consequently there is also a duality to their personality. There lurks an entirely different side to the bright and happy go lucky Gemini which can be dark and downright menacing and on occasions thoroughly mean.

If they think they've been provoked they can switch on a dime from being delightful company to a cutting adversary almost within the same sentence and when this occurs it is preferable to extricate yourself as soon as possible from the often lethal tongue lashing that will follow! Remember Gemini will always have the last word!

They can also switch sides in an argument at the drop of a hat and although this kind of duplicitous behavior causes angst, Gemini won't remain out of favor for long not just because they can argue their way out of any situation but because they are too much fun and would be missed!

They are ethereal and hard to pin down but even if you do, they'll still run mental rings around you with their superior intellect.

Also indecisive, when it all gets too hard they will simply walk away to pursue a more convivial environment or relationship. This restlessness can appear shallow but it is unpredictable and only appears when they are bored.

Naturally sociable Gemini's are charming to all people that they meet, and do not seem to show special favor to anyone. They are never snobs and will have a diverse group of friends to satiate the many facets of their mercurial nature.

Your Gemini friend will effortlessly draw people to them and of course you will receive more phone calls and visits from your Gemini friend than from anyone else you know. They also make good and sympathetic listeners and will entice you to join them in a good old gossip session.

Whilst Gemini can do just about anything (so long as it's not boring!) and can excel in any field, the only hitch is deciding where and how to focus that attention. Once they do, they can accomplish more in a day than other star signs can in a week but if bored, of course the opposite is true and on the whole Gemini's change jobs probably more than their fellow zodiac workers.

They are particularly adept at gathering information (Researcher) and being able to articulate their findings better than anyone. PR, media, politics, writers, teachers and anything to do with the arts are also ideal vocations. They are the information gatherers and networkers of the zodiac possessed with an unquenchable thirst for knowledge. They can converse with interest with everyone on just about any subject and because of their superior communication skills and innate charm Gemini usually does well at work and makes an excellent team player.

The Gemini office will have all the communication tools ever made (the Kings and Queens of Fads), the latest mobile phone, Blackberry, lap top and a very well thumbed Rolodex chock full of names. The original multi-taskers they will always have several things on the go at once.

Unquestionably the most ideal match for Gemini is another Gemini, or other air signs such as Libra and Aquarius. Fire signs are second best, Sagittarius, Aries and Leo. Taurus will bore the pants off you and Cancer's are way too house-bound, intolerant, demanding and clingy for Gemini.

Gemini

This is regarded as the ultimate love match for Gemini's although you two are so much alike you might annoy each other with your Gemini tendencies. Discussions will be lively, life will be restless and ever changing but then again they wouldn't have it any other way. Gemini's understand one another's need for freedom and will keep each other entertained and being such social creatures, they will have a large circle of friends and throw amazing parties – with themselves as the stars!

It really is a perfect match, they truly understand each other and the synergy is in place.

Libra

Gemini and Libra share a love of entertaining and travel and neither is jealous or demanding. There will be a magnetic sexual pull towards Libra and intellectually they are an ideal match. Both love a good debate but neither is combative and they have just enough in common (and just enough difference) to keep it lively.

Sagittarius,

They make a dynamic, magnetic couple but being their polar opposite will probably place too many obstacles in the long run.

Aquarius

Intellectually, Aquarius may work to some degree because they will give each other the requisite emotional space and not be too demanding and they are just capricious enough for Gemini to be interested.